ACKNOWLEDGEMENT OF COUNTRY

Northern Territory Major Events Company respectfully acknowledges the past, present and emerging Traditional Owners of the beautiful land on which we live, work, and gather. We respect the cultural practices and traditions of our hosts, recognise the importance of sustainably caring for our country, and commit to being respectful visitors to traditional lands.

Welcome Messages

I am delighted to see the return of Australia's first and longest-running Masters Games and hope you all enjoy the eight days of sporting action, camaraderie, and fun. The Games are a great opportunity to participate in sports, meet like-minded people and even make life-long friends.

Thank you to the staff, and the many volunteers who have given up their time to help at the much-loved Games. Without dedicated volunteers, events such as these would not be able to go ahead.

Set in the heart of Australia, there's plenty to see and do outside of The Games from learning about the region's rich history to exploring the stunning MacDonnell Ranges, and tranquil waterholes to partaking in a range of tourism experiences. Grab your friends and jump on a hot air balloon ride at sunrise, meet a kangaroo or two at The Kangaroo Sanctuary or head out to try some of the great food and drinks on offer across the town's many venues.

Limber up and get ready for an action-packed 2024 Alice Springs Masters Games - The Games with Heart.

Chief Minister of the Northern Territory

Lia Finocchiaro

It's wonderful to see the excitement and anticipation of The Games take over the region. A lot sure has happened since the last Games in 2018. For one, I'm now old enough to compete although my wife may question whether I'm mature enough at times...

A lot of work has gone on behind the scenes to bring you all the 2024 Games and I couldn't be more excited to see everyone get out and enjoy this event. For those that have participated in the past, whether as a competitor or a volunteer, I'm sure you'll agree that there is no event quite like it. The sense of excitement, camaraderie and fun that comes with the Alice Springs Masters Games is second to none. If it's your first time experiencing The Games, you're certainly in for a treat.

Alice Springs Town Council is proud to be a continuing sponsor for the Alice Springs Masters Games, and I would like to thank the entire Council team for the work they put in to make the Games fantastic. I'd also like to thank the event organisers, sponsors and, perhaps most importantly, all the volunteers across each sport. Without incredible people like yourselves, events such as these simply don't happen.

All the best to everyone competing this week, go well and take care. Most importantly, have fun. Let 'The Games with Heart' begin!

Alice Springs Town Council

Mayor Matt Paterson

It is an honour to be the ambassador for the 2024 Alice Springs Masters Games. To all the participants, volunteers, and supporters I extend a warm welcome.

The Alice Springs Masters Games are a remarkable celebration of sport, community, and the powerful spirit that drives us all. It is great to see this event bring together people from every corner of the country, united by their passion for friendly competition and the love of sport. It's a chance to challenge yourselves, connect with others, and enjoy the thrill of sportsmanship.

As someone who has dedicated much of my life to sport, I am deeply inspired by the enthusiasm and commitment you bring to these Games. Whether you're here to compete or volunteer, your energy and dedication will contribute to the special atmosphere that will define this event.

Let's embrace this opportunity to push the boundaries, support one another, and most importantly, have fun. The Alice Springs Masters Games are not just about the medals or the scores, but the experiences you share and the memories you create.

Thank you for being a part of this incredible journey. Here's to a fantastic week of sports, camaraderie, and celebration.

Enjoy The Games!

Alice Springs Masters Games Ambassador

Nathan Buckley

I am delighted to return to and be a part of the Alice Springs Masters Games.

Having been involved in The Games since it began in 1986 it's a pleasure to be back in the Red Centre with you all and welcome you to The Games with Heart.

As an Olympian and life-long participant in sport it's heartening to see so many of you here giving it a go and being active. Having an active lifestyle has many benefits, and you are all a shining example of how sport can be fun, inclusive, and good for the soul.

The Alice Springs Masters Games are special, being the second oldest in the world and oldest in Australia. I hope you thoroughly enjoy the eight-day Games and take the opportunity to meet new people, explore the region and make some great memories.

Welcome to the 2024 Alice Springs Masters Games

The Alice Springs Masters Games are the oldest Masters Games in Australia, and the second oldest in the world! The Games are a cherished part of the Central Australian community, with locals joining in to participate, volunteer or take part in both.

The Australian Sports Commission first suggested the idea of a Masters Games and the philosophy of Masters sport in the early 1980s. The development of Masters sport included an underlying belief that each participant is a champion in his or her own right, if the physical and mental attributes for each stage of life are maintained at their optimum levels.

The Northern Territory Government embraced the concept of a Masters Games, leading to the first such event in Australia, which was held in Alice Springs in 1986.

The inaugural Alice Springs Masters Games, originally known as the Central Australian Masters Games, were the second event of their kind, following the 1985 World Masters Games in Canada.

This year marks the 18th instalment of the Alice Springs Masters Games and will feature over 20 sports, ranging from mountain biking and darts to equestrian and golf.

Framed by the MacDonnell Ranges and desert landscape, Alice Springs has a lot to offer. Stunning landscapes, rich Aboriginal culture and a unique pioneering history creates a diverse and exhilarating destination to explore.

While visiting be sure to visit the galleries on Todd Mall to get to know the art and stories of the local Aboriginal Arrernte people.

See the animals that live in Central Australia's habitats at Alice Springs Desert Park by foot, or from the basket of a hot air balloon, as they roam across the spinifex plains or wander around the Olive Pink Botanic Garden.

For desert scenery drive into the MacDonnell Ranges where the scenic gorges, tranquil waterholes and history of the region will leave you with a lasting impression.

Welcome again to the Red Centre and the Alice Springs Masters Games! We cannot wait to see you try your best on the track, field or courts and forge new friendships.

History of Alice Springs

Apmere (place) Mparntwe has a history which was born in the Altyerre (Dreamtime). Athereyurre (Telegraph Station) was where the Central Arrernte people survived for thousands of years because of the source of water reliability. Athereyurre (Telegraph Station) provided this necessity to the Central Arrernte people.

The Mparntwe people of the Central Arrernte tribe lived in this area because of the availability of water and all types of foods this area offered, including amerne (vegetables) and akure (meat).

Landmarks such as Ntaripe (Heavitree Gap), Akeyellerre (Billy Goat Hill), Untyeyetwelye (Anzac Hill), Athereyurre (Telegraph Station) and surrounding hill lines all have an Aboriginal presence when looking through Central Arrernte Mparntwe eyes.

They are hidden but not invisible and are very present in the moment of a history from the Altyerre (dreamtime) of beetles, caterpillars and dogs fighting all travelling in all directions leaving these monumental landmarks in the wake for all to view.

The original town of Stuart, which is also known as the Overland Telegraph Station, was the original location of Alice Springs. The location for the Overland Telegraph Station was perfect when making a telegraph line through the centre of Australia, connecting the South to the North to “get a message!”.

The township started under the name of Stuart; between 1871 and 1933 Alice Springs was simply the name of a waterhole adjacent to the Telegraph Station. It was named after Alice Todd, the wife of Sir Charles Todd, who was the driving force for constructing the Overland Telegraph Line.

The purpose of the telegraph was to assist communication from the north to the south of Australia. Without it, messages could only be delivered by the Afghan cameleers and would take months to be received.

As the town became more connected, fossicking miners looking for gold, mica and tungsten, as well as pastoralists, were drawn to the vast land and great opportunity that was available. With the harsh and arid environment at the time, the journey from Alice Springs to Arltunga was accessible only by camel. Afghan cameleers forged a vital place in the town's history, driving their camel trains through the unforgiving desert climate. Their legacy is proudly evident in the town today with many local families being direct descendants of those early pioneers.

In 1933 the town took on the name of Alice Springs, and less than ten years later, during World War II, it became a very active base for military personnel.

It's estimated around 8,000 soldiers were stationed here and about 200,000 visited. During the 1960s Alice Springs again became an important defence location with the development of the US and Australian Pine Gap joint defence satellite monitoring base, home to about 700 workers from both countries.

In more modern times, life in Alice Springs has boomed with an increase in tourism and the introduction of large events such as the Henley on Todd, the Desert Song Festival, Desert Mob, Red CentreNATS, Parrtjima - A Festival in Light - and of course, Alice Springs Masters Games.

Today, Alice Springs is a home to people from many countries and cultures, with an Aboriginal population of 20.6%, and 26.2% of residents speaking a language other than English at home.
